Biography

My Name is Laura Hall and I am currently the Director of Environmental Safety and Health at Roadtec, Inc. Roadtec is a local company and is under the umbrella of the Astec, Inc. companies, which is also based out of Chattanooga.

I officially moved to Chattanooga about 3 years ago, from Ohio. I love this city and all that it offers. Ohio will always be “home”, but Chattanooga has more opportunity, inside and outside of my career.

I have worked at Roadtec for over a year, and prior to that, I spent 13 years as a contractor providing OSHA training and evaluations for over 500 facilities. Prior to my work in Occupational Safety, I spent 15 years as a Firefighter/Paramedic/Instructor in Ohio.

Now, at 40 years old, I believe that I can use my knowledge to educate others on how to effectively sustain a successful Safety and Health Program. Since I took over as the Director of EHS at Roadtec, we have surpassed their previous goal of 252 days (set in 2014) without an incident, and for the first time since the company was started, we have reached over 365 days. When I started as a Safety and Health Coordinator in 2018, our incident rate was 2.97. The company averaged 9-13 injuries per year. I became the director in August of 2018, and since then, the current incident rate is zero, and no injuries in over 365 days.
